Aunt Susan (laying down knitting). Dear, dear, its snowing still. This will certainly be a white Christmas. (Resumes work.) I must hurry and finish this sock for Abner.- Hes been such a faithful hired boy, and I don t know of a thing that would please him better for Christmas than a pair of nice red socks. (Holds them up to view.) (Knits a few moments.) They re finished now, and I know he ll be plumb tickled. He did say somethin about a baseball an bat, but these here socks are better. I must wrap them up in paper. Where s that piece the meat came in? (Rises and searches, at last finding it.) I don t believe in this new-fangled nonsense about red ribbon and holly tags for wrapping presents. (Wraps socks in meat paper.) (Enter Abner, whistling, sets down lantern, takes off boots and puts on bright colored carpet slippers....
