The movement won its chief support by appeals to simple and very practical war-time issues; its chief effect may possibly be in the field of trade union structure. But its connections with the demand for workers control are close and highly significant. Whatever the rank and file wanted, the conspicuous leaders were out for control. This is evident in all the propaganda of the movement. The first of the Objects on the Sheffield member s card was To obtain an everincreasing Control of Workshop Conditions. It is evident in such by-products of the movement as the Clyde Dilution Scheme 11 and the GallecherPaton memorandum on collective contract. But it is clearest of all in the actual seizures of power by the shop stewards and in the way the leaders played on each particular grievance and played up each particular issue to swell the general demand for control. Several instances of shop steward tactics are given in Section X. The use of a particular blacksmith s objection to the boss s watching his fire to establish a general refusal to be watched at work is a minor but typical case. Moreover the very changes in structure themselves were often argued on control grounds: fit your organization to industry to make it fit to control industry. The shop stewards movement was a 11 See below, pp. 197-201. See below, p. 173. See below, p. 138. genuine movement towards the control of industry. And...
